

FRED KINATEDER, SR. HONORED WITH SUBCONTRACTOR OF THE YEAR AWARD
The Daily Reporter recognizes Kinateder's successful projects and strong growth

Waukesha, Wis. (October 27, 2008) – With the many projects taken on by Fred Kinateder, Sr.'s union masonry business, Kinateder Masonry, it comes as no surprise that he was recognized as the Subcontractor of the Year from The Daily Reporter's Newsmakers of the Year Award – a program that acknowledges people and companies from throughout the state for their contribution to the construction industry.

A few of the more notable projects Kinateder Masonry built are: Miller Park, the Harley-Davidson Museum, the Midwest Airlines Center, and the Sharon Lynne Wilson Performing Arts Center in Brookfield.

"The Daily Reporter Publishing Co. congratulates Fred Kinateder Masonry Inc. for the company's positive role in the state's construction industry," said Chris Thompson, editor of The Daily Reporter. "While there were many worthy Newsmaker candidates for Subcontractor of the Year, the company's commitment and work ethic stood out to the judges."

Kinateder thanked The Daily Reporter for the award and is pleased to continue moving his company into the future of construction. He plans on handing over the reins to his two sons, Fred, Jr. and Mike, and believes that they will have no problems continuing on with the successful projects he has become known for.

"Our goal has always been to be the contractor of choice," said Fred, Sr. "We all work hard to be the best we can be, and realize that it's about partnering with the general contractor and owner to create the best possible product."

Every one of us takes great pride in our work," Fred, Sr. added. "From large to small projects we treat each one the same and always work hard to meet our customer's expectations."
